ONLINE RESEARCH JOURNAL

The College of The Bahamas Research Journal and College Forum have been accepted into the Directory of Open Access Journals (DOAJ), the world’s largest repository of electronic journals that are available freely on the Internet. The website is at http://www.doaj.org Since the DOAJ metadata is OAI compliant, the information can be harvested by other databases. This is a major step forward in making the content of The College’s Research Journal widely available and accessible.

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

Office of Research, Graduate Programmes & International Relations

Call for Grants for Research and Creative/Artistic Work 2008-2009

To expand opportunities for research and creativity within The College of The Bahamas, the College invites employees to submit proposals for grants to fund their projects. Submissions of grant proposals must be received by Shameka Coakley (scoakley@cob.edu.bs) in the Office of Research, Graduate Programmes & International Relations no later than 4:00 pm on the 28th November 2008. Results will be available by the 12th December 2008. Grants will be awarded on a competitive basis and will be tenable for a maximum of one year.

• Research projects which are likely to have a demonstrable impact on national development,

• Creative or artistic projects which are likely to have a demonstrable impact on national culture,

• Proposals from early career faculty (faculty who have worked in the academy for less than 5 years), and

• Proposals from faculty with an earned doctorate or faculty in the final phase of doctoral work.

Notwithstanding these priorities, proposals which fall outside these areas will also be considered. It is expected that grants will be in the order of $1,000-$3,000, but larger requests will be considered.

The project proposal should not exceed five pages and must include the information outlined in the guidelines.
